

beauty news

Exotic pampering products, nail polishes to suit all budgets and the best everyday eye cream

Wonders of the world

Beauty has taken an exotic turn with ranges influenced by some of the world's most beautiful and unusual places. Here are some of our favourites:

1 Nouba, from £6.75. Taking its lead from the boldly painted bodies of members of the Central African Nuba tribe, this make-up range contains vivid, heavily pigmented shades, such as this Eye Shadow in 210, Green, £10.

2 Crabtree & Evelyn Sarawak, from £6. This new collection was inspired by the Malaysian state of Sarawak. We love the eau de toilette, with notes of grapefruit, green bamboo and ginger.

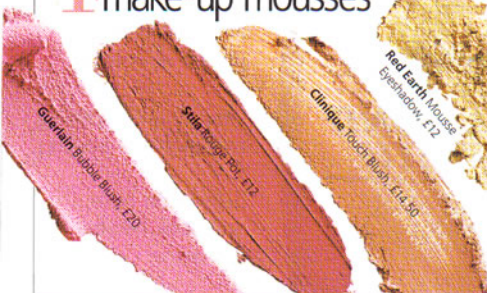

3 L'Artisan Parfumeur Timbuktu, £39.50 for 50ml. Created by a perfumer travelling in Africa, this rich, spicy fragrance combines green mango, herbs, florals and patchouli.

4 Taer Icelandic, from £19.50. Taer means pure in Icelandic, so it's fitting that all the products in this minimal skincare line are grown on an organic farm in a remote valley in Iceland. Try the Essential Face Scrub, £19.50.

4 of the best make-up mousses

Making up is easy with these light-as-air formulations...

Red Earth Mousse Eye Shadow, £12

Clinique Touch Blush, £14.50

Stila Rouge Pot, £12

Guerlain Shimmer Blush, £10

For your eyes only

If you're sceptical about the need for eye creams, think again. "The skin around your eyes is seven times thinner than the rest of your face, so wrinkles occur faster," says plastic surgeon Nick Percival. Using an eye treatment morning and night will help combat fine lines before they deepen and will help diminish dark circles, too. We recommend Olay Total Effects 7x Eye Transforming Cream, £14.99, which is perfect for everyday use.

FIRST CLASS...

Lancôme Nail Lacquer in Grenat, £13, is long lasting and easy to apply, giving your nails the kind of sheen you'd normally only expect from a manicure.

ECONOMY...

Revlon Nail Enamel in Very Currant, £6.29, contains pearlescent particles and conditioning ingredients to leave your nails with a delicate shimmer.

